

Lyfi - Alm

IN MARTELL VALLEY

THE WALDER FAMILY WISHES YOU A GREAT HIKE!

ROUTE DESCRIPTION

The path to the hut starts at the head of the Martell Valley in front of the Alpengasthof Enzian (2,051 m) and is easy to follow, even with pushchairs.

The path is also a section of the Martello High Trail.

Shortly before the car park, a forest path goes up on the right-hand side.

At the top there are old huts which you pass and then follow the path upwards. To get to the alpine pasture, always follow the same forest path. In winter you can go up on a toboggan or hire one at the top to ride back down!

STARTING POINT

Starting point: Enzian car park

Duration (there & back): 2 h

Highest point: 2165 m

Lowest point: 2051 m

Difference in altitude: 114m

INFO

The Lyfialm is located in the Martell strawberry valley. With over 90 cows, calves and pigs, there is plenty to discover and marvel at all summer long. A small playground also makes children's hearts beat faster.

The path from the Enzian car park to the Lyfi Alm is ideal for prams suitable for alpine use.
